Why Endure Summer Colds?

It isn't necessary to have a stuffed head, running nose. To cough your head off as it were. All you need to do is use Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey. The soothing and healing balsams open the clogged air passages and in a short time you get relief and start on the road to recovery. Your nose stops running, you cough less and you know you are getting better. Get a bottle, use as directed. Keep what is left as a cough and cold insurance. Adv.

TRAGIC DEATH OF YOUNG BOGDAN

Was Electrocuted Tuesday Afternoon While Repairing Cumberland Telephone Lines.

WHOLE COMMUNITY SHOCKED

The community was thrown into a state of excitement second to that caused by the storm, when it became known Tuesday afternoon that young Hermann Bogdahn, son of Mr. Chas. Bogdahn, had been seriously injured while repairing wires of the Telephone Company on Porter street, and was lying at the point of death in Dr. Tabar's office.

The accident occurred Tuesday afternoon, July 18, at 3:55 o'clock. Bogdahn, in company with a crew consisting of H. E. Collins, trouble man of the Cumberland Telephone Company, and Forest Canty, had been making sundry repairs at the beach, and finishing up all the work they had in that direction returned to the city and concluded that they would put in the balance of the day in Porter street. Young Bogdahn climbed the pole in front of the Rosser residence, adjoining the Baptist Parsonage, to string the wire to Chas. Ferrer's residence which had been broken by the storm. This telephone pole is several feet higher than the electric light pole near it, and has electric light wires on each side of it, but none directly touching it. Bogdahn was attempting to pull a telephone wire over the light wires, which are said at that point to carry 2300 volts of current, and it is also said that the insulation was worn of the light wires in places, leaving them entirely exposed. Bogdahn was holding on to the pole with his spurs stuck in the wood, and with his right hand. He reached over the light wire to pull up the wire he was working with, and by some means his left arm was caught by the exposed portion of the live wire, burning him and causing him to release the pole and grab the wire with both hands. When this happened the current on the wire drew his body up against the wire closely, and before the power was shut off he was badly burned about the hands and arms and a great hole burned in his left side. As soon as his horror stricken companions could realize placed on the grave, among them a very handsome one by the employee of the telephone company, another by the operator of the company, one by the employee of the Hebe company, one by his fellow employees with whom he worked in Tennessee while he was away several months, one by a group of young men on the beach with whom he associated, and others whose names we were unable to learn.

Hermann James Bogdahn was born in this city, being 20 years, 6 months and 13 days old at the time of his death. He was a most estimable young man, steady and industrious, and had the good will and esteem of all who knew him. Numbering his friends as he did by the score, his death cast a gloom over the entire community, and the sympathies of every man, woman and child in the city go out to the parents of the unfortunate young man.

He leaves, besides his heart-broken parents, two brothers, Charles and Henry, and a sister, Miss Edna Bogdahn, all of whom live in this city.

To the bereaved ones the Democrat-Star offers its sincere condolences in their tragic hour of grief.

what was happening one of them rushed to the grocery store nearby and phoned the power house to cut off the current. As soon as the current was off young Bogdahn relaxed and fell to the ground, a distance of eighteen or twenty feet. It is said that he lay on the wire burning, for four or five minutes.

Mr. Hooks, county road foreman happened along about that time, and brought a blanket from his buggy which was wrapped around the unfortunate young man, and his companions hurriedly put him to the wagon and carried him to Dr. Taber's office, where medical aid was given him. All the physicians in the city were soon on hand, and did all they could to relieve his agony, but they realized from the first that he was beyond human aid. He was conscious at first, and recognized those around him and asked them to do something for him, but he soon relaxed into unconsciousness, and died at 6:21, just ninety two minutes after the accident. His face was not burned or discolored, but his hands and arms and body were horribly burned, in one place his body being nearly burned in two.

The news of the accident soon spread over the city, and an excited crowd gathered about the corner of Young's Drug Store, all anxious to know how it happened and ready to do anything in their power for the unfortunate young man. Mr. Belote, manager of the telephone company secured an auto and sent immediately for the young man's father, but he arrived too late to be recognized, as the boy was then dying.

The body was taken to charge by an undertaker, and embalmed and prepared for burial, the funeral occurring on Thursday afternoon at three o'clock from the residence of Mr. Chas. Bogdahn in South Pascagoula street, the service being conducted by Rev. John Chipman, interment being in Greenwood Cemetery. A large number of friends and sympathizers of the family attended the funeral. Many of the beautiful wreaths and floral offerings were the result of offerings from the people who were destroyed.

BURGARS AGAIN GET BUSY.

Stemper's Jewelry Store and Mr. Farragut's Residence Visited Same Night.

Burglars got busy again last Saturday night, taking advantage, perhaps, of the darkness when so many lights were turned on, and visited a store and a residence.

The first visitation was at the residence of Mr. A. Farragut in South Pascagoula street. Mr. Farragut was busy at his shop, and the rest of the family were at the picture show, and it was at the time there was no one at home that the burglar made his entrance. Night was falling but Loyal Farragut, the ablest evidently liking it better than his own, for he left his own illuminated felt hat in place of the one he stole; and a few cents that was in a little purse belonging to one of the girls. The armchair in Mrs. Farragut's room showed evidence of having been picked at, but the thief was frightened away before he effected an entrance.

The same night, but at a much later hour, the show window of Stemper's jewelry store was broken and a few small articles of jewelry left in the window after the day's business was stolen. Mr. Stemper says his loss will not exceed ten dollars, as he had nothing of much value in the window.

Excessive rains the past two weeks have seriously interfered with business of all kinds. More rain has fallen in this section since the latter part of June than many of the oldest inhabitants remember, and all low places and vacant lots and many back yards are covered with water. It seriously interferes with making repairs of damage caused by the spring, and so far we have some dry weather and it will not be possible for farmers and farmers to save any of their crops which are now being ruined by the beautiful weather the Lord is sending.
